Bay pledges to leave Kiln, D'head alone in annexation plans

By MARY G. SEILEY Staff Writer

Bay St. Louis leaders said last week they have no intention — at this time — of trying to annex the Kiln or Diamondhead communities.

City Council members agreed with that sentiment offered by Mayor Eddie Favre, although they took no vote on the matter.

The subject came up when

Favre said he had been advised that the Hancock County Board of Supervisors passed a resolution recently asking that the city cut off its annexation attempt at Bayou

LaCroix. Favre said he's never seen a copy of the supervisor's action, but was told of it. He recommended that City Council

Cruisin' the Coast is almost here

ust where they will be coming from, well just about every state in the nation for the 8th Annual Cruisin' the Coast which begins on Sunday, October 5 and runs through Saturday, October 11.

Just think, in 1996 there were 374 registered vehicles; 2000, 3,650 vehicles; and 2002, 5,208 vehi-

This year's registration is 5,500 and that sure is a big increase sine 1996. This makes Cruisin' the Coast the fastest growing car show in America.

Cruisin' the Coast really brings lots of folks to the coastal counties. It is estimated this year's event will bring in a crowd of 145,000 visitors.

Events for Cruisin' begin in Bay St. Louis on Tuesday, October 7, at Casino Magic's Bridges Gulf Course with a Shotgun start at 8 a.m.

There will also on Tuesday be a Bay St. Louis Old Town Happy Hour Cruise-in from 3 to 6 p.m. Then a Cruise from Old Town to Casino Magic, Bay St. Louis 6 to 7 p.m. followed by Pete Fountain, 8 p.m., in the Magic's Entertainment Complex.

On Thursday, Friday and Saturday, October, 9, 10, & 11, things really begin to roll in Bay St. Louis, as cars by the thousands will be Cruisin, the Citv.

From 8 a.m. to 5 p.m. on Thursday, Friday and Saturday, many of the Bay Streets will be closed to general traffic. This year - for safety purposes there will be no bicycles, skateboards, glass containers, or open fires allowed at the festival site in Bav St. Louis.

A special operations command center will be located at the Hancock County Courthouse and the center will serve to keep lost children until they can be reunited with parents.

Myself, I am once again looking forward to Cruisin' the Coast and I hope each and everyone of you will have a great time.

I know there are some of folks who still do Fall planting of vegetables such as turnips, collards, spinach, etc. If you have not already, it is time to get the seeds, or plants into the ground. Nothing tastes better than Fall vegetables fresh from the garden.

Hopefully, we will not have as much rain as we did in the Spring. Most gardeners had problems because of rain and heat in the Spring.

It is also time to be thinking about planting Fall and Winter flowers such as pansies and tulips.

A nice bed of pansies, or tulips really look good. I have had good experience with pansies and not too much luck with tulips.

Flowers just make such a big difference in a yard. Hopefully everyone will have a good planting season.

Supporting the Fleet is top priority our ability to project power to their turf before they get to ours. As America faces new threats that more than ever require our naval mobility, it's time we stopped living off shipbuilding investments made during the 1980s, and begin charting a course to ensure country our remains the

By U.S. Sen. Trent Lott

Many Americans may not realize it, but President Ronald Reagan's 600 ship navy is drastically smaller today, about half the size and shrinking. The late Sen. John C. Stennis - often heralded as the "father of our modem navy" - would be Halter and Bollinger anything our rivals can muster. However, ship blueprints can't fight terrorists, interdict drugs or haul goods. It takes investment like many of the Navy's to turn these next-generation ideas into reality, into ships that can defend America's interests and carry our cargo well into the 21st Century.

This doesn't just apply to U.S. Navy ships. It's also time we invest in the U.S. Coast Guard and our merchant fleet. Right now our Coast Guard Cutter fleet is among the world's oldest when compared to the navies of other industrialized countries. Yet, our Coast Guard is being asked to do more and more to protect our borders from drug smugglers and terrorists.

To correct that underfunding, I have joined other Senators in adding $202 million to the Deepwater Program for Fiscal Year 2004, and in asking the Administration to properly fund the program next year. We're pressing for continuation of federal programs and tax incentives that encourage the use of U.S.-built and U.S.-flagged ships for our merchant shipping and even for recreational vessels like cruise ships. By State Auditor Phil Bryant COUNTIES

Q Does a board of supervisors have authority to establish a quarterly budget allocation for the chancery clerk's office?

A No. Sections 19-25-13 and 27-1-9 provide for a board of supervisors to establish quarterly budget allocations for the sheriff, tax collector, and tax assessor, but the board's authority would not extend to establishing a quarterly budget allocation for the office of the chancery clerk. (Attorney General's Opinion to Crook dated November 1, 2002)

Q May a justice court judge impose jail cost to be assessed against a defendant on a per day basis? A No. Section 25-7-25 provides for the costs and fees that a justice court judge may charge. There is no provision for a justice court judge to charge a jail cost as a cost of court for each day that a defendant is incarcerated. (Attorney General's Opinion to Nowak dated October 25,2002)

Q Can a chancery clerk pay constable fees sent from the justice court without board \mathbf{of} supervisors approval?

A No. The board of supervisors authorizes payment of constable's fees through the claims docket. (Attorney General's Opinion to Fanner dated October 25,2002)

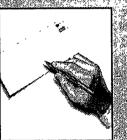

Q Can a county enter into a contract which waives rights, binds to arbitration, waives damages, or other limiting provisions?

A No. The state and its political subdivisions are governed by constitutional constraints, including the prohibition against dimin-

Many of the Coast's most prominent artists will be represented at the St. Rose Silent Auction, part of the 77th Annual Church Fair, October 3, 4 & 5. 301 South Necaise Avenue, Bay St. Louis. Among the artists are the following:

Lori Gordon donated a painting, which celebrates the life of Celestine Labat who died this year at 104 years old. Her father built St. Rose Church. This painting was chosen for the Commemorative Fair Poster which comes with a commentary by the artist who did extensive interviews with "Miss Teenie" Labat. Included with the commentary is an inspirational piece by local author, Paul LaViolette. A limited number of signed and numbered posters are available as well as unsigned posters.

Gordon was born and spent her younger years in South Dakota. She holds a bachelor's degree in political science and a master's degree in religious studies. Largely self taught, she works in many medias including pencil, acrylic, handmade paper and polymer clay. Gordon is represented in several galleries in the region, including Serenity Gallery in Bay St. Louis, Antiques and Interiors in pass Christian, and Morgan West Gallery in New Orleans.

Kathe Calhoun donated watercolors including a pair of native Dancers and Lilies.

Kathe studied at the New Orleans Academy of fine Art and has participated in numerous workshops and taught watercolor and has

Peace Rosary at OLG

Our Lady of the Guif Church will hold its October Peace Rosary Service on Friday, Oct. 3, at 7 p.m. Peace Rosary services are held on the first Friday of each month. October is the month of the Rosary and a time when the church calls the faithful to become closer to both the church and to Jesus Christ. This month's service will feature a performance by chamber musicians Alana Rutledge on organ and keyboards, Tricia Harvey on flute, and Christine Budin on bassoon, with Rutledge arranging the performance. The word Rosary comes from the Latin word "rosario" meaning bouquet of roses. The church teaches that each time we pray the rosary Mary gathers our intentions, and presents them to her son Jesus, asking for his intervention in our lives for faith, hope, charity and peace. This will be the ninth consecutive month for the Peace Rosary services, which began as a way to pray for peace in

But, the mayor added, "let it be known" that the city's growth "intentions' are outlined exactly in Chancery Court. The city doesn't plan to go further north or east than what's been requested, he said, at least for now.

"In other words, we ain't going to the Kiln and we ain't going Diamondhead," Favre said. The mayor said if the city had any designs on those two communities, they would have been included in the current annexation attempt.

Later in the meeting, council went into executive session for a briefing by attorney Donald Rafferty on the Bay annexation lawsuit that's pending in Chancery

With an Oct. 13 court date approaching, Bay St. Louis is on the entrance ramp to what may be a protracted battle to growth.

After a year-long feasibility study by consultants, the city filed papers seeking to triple its land mass by taking in territory along both sides of Highway 603, eastward to the Jourdan River. and northward past Bayou LaCroix to Interstate 10. The map includes all four sides of the I-10/Hwy. 603 interchange.

Waveland, meanwhile, followed the Bay's annexation steps by filing papers that seek to annex much of the same commercial corridor into Waveland. The Oct. 13 hearing is on the Bay's case. Two days later, Waveland's case is on the docket. In other matters, council 701-2629. More information agreed that the city should sponsor a public hearing and advertisements to kick off a $250,000 program offering assistance grants to first-time homeowners.

Gulf Coast Community Action Agency is drafting rules and regulations for the program, along the lines of an identical assistance program it administered in Harrison County.

The agency's Everette Lewis told council members the city may want to put a maximum purchase price of $90,000 on each property, and offer eligible applicants around $15,000 toward the transaction.

In unrelated matters, council:

 Agreed to pay the county tax assessor's office a fee amounting to 1 percent of the city taxes the county collects, up to $75,000. Favre said the city has been paying the county 2 percent of the collections, with no maximum. Last year, he said, the collection fees amounted $125,000.

 Agreed to extend Mediacom's franchise to mid-December, while terms of a longer franchise are negotiated. Council delayed action on the mayor's recommendation to increase the cable company's franchise fee from 3 percent to 5 percent, however.

The mayor said that hike would net the city about $35,000 extra. But council members were leery.

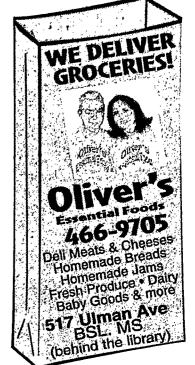

"That will cause an increase in cable fees to customers," said at-large council member Bill Taylor.

"They'll pass it on to customers," said Ward 4 council member Bobby Compretta. ...I'm not for it."

Favre agreed that the fee hike would be passed on to subscribers. cable "Absolutely. No doubt about it," said Favre. He said the matter could be discussed further when council debates terms of the proposed franchise agreement.

Water-Sewer bd. bond issue may be subject to a vote

Will a bond issue proposed by the Hancock County Water and Sewer District be put to a vote? Supervisors are expected to decide the issue on Tuesday at 9 a.m. at a meeting of the board at the Coast Electric meeting room on Main St. A group of Hancock county residents have collected signatures and filed a petition questioning the right of the Hancock County Water and Sewer District to issue a revenue bond totaling $1,209,300. The group is asking county supervisors to put the issue to a vote.

The bond would be used to help cover the costs of a new Phase 2 water system that would bring a centralized water service to the remaining unserviced areas on the east side of Hwy. 603, said Hancock County Water and Sewer District representatives. The remaining cost of Phase 2 water would be covered by a grant/loan from the USDA. The grant could be lost if the bond issue fails, said board attorney J. P. Compretta.

The citizens organizing the petition drive say that the bond will put an undue financial burden on many residents who cannot afford to pay. Compretta says the bond will be repaid by revenues collected from residents using the new water service.

Apparently legislation exists that requires a vote on the issue if 20 percent of the registered voters in the district sign a petition calling for a vote. The petition has been submitted to the Board of Supervisors and to the Hancock County Water Board. Sewer Signatures must be certified by Court Clerk Pam Metzler. Supervisors will also discuss budget amendments on

City plans for Cruisin' the Coast - 2003 expect 25,000 cruisers and spectators for annual event

THE SEA COAST ECHO Bay Saint Louis Mayor

Eddie Favre and his staff have their plans together to host Cruisin' the Coast Oct. 9, 10, 11.

The Bay is a very popular venue for cruisers and spectators because its location on the water and in the heart of Old Town, offering much more in goods, services and personality than the large parking lot venues of other areas. As the popularity of the event grows, so do the crowds and this year the city is expanding its official Cruisin' site to accommodate the growth in the number of official cars registered for the event.

"This is the one time of the year we ask for the patience of our residents and businesses and for good humor in hosting this great event In hard economic times Cruisin'is vital to the annual success of our downtown businesses and there would not be any way for the city to pay for the published, televised and recorded publicity this city receives because of the event. This years official brochure featured the Bays venue prominently and was distributed to the hundreds of thousands of inquiries," said Mayor Favre.

EVENT TIMES AND DATES:

8 a.m. - 5 p.m. Thursday, Friday and Saturday, October 9, 10 and 11.

STREET CLOSURES THURSDAY AND FRI-

With the addition of Our Lady of the Gulfs parking lot and festival grounds for registered Cruisin' cars and the expansion to the 300 block of Main St. we have planned to accommodate the top number of cars we can expect. We don't want anyone to not have a space in the official festival site and leave unhappy. If necessary we will expand further down Main St. and south Beach Blvd.," continued the Mayor.

The Department will add to public safety with the location of Engine 2 at the corner of DeMontluzin and Beach. We will also offer additional first aid support to our guests at this site, in addition to the roving safety vehicle," offered Fire Chief Robert Gavagnie.

Local police, with the assistance of additional officers from Waveland and the Sheriff s Department, will man each street closure. Foot patrols will deploy from the mobile Special Operations Command Center located at the Court House. The Center will also serve to keep lost children until they can be reunited with parents.

"Because we are expecting even larger crowds this year no bicycles, skateboards, glass containers or open fires will be allowed on the festival site. No animals will be allowed, particularly exotic animals," Assistant PD Chief Dave Stepro. "We try very hard to not inhibit anyone's fun at Spectator parking will be available at the historic Depot located at Union St. and Railroad Ave. Visitors are encouraged to park west of Second St. on streets intersecting Main and asked not to block any driveways. 'This is the hard part - finding parking for our spectators. We just ask that they use good common sense and courtesy and our residents please be patient and helpful," said Mayor

"This is a true partnership event and the most important partners are the people of Bay Saint Louis who have consistently made visitors feel welcome and so special that many return several times throughout the year. First Baptist, Main Street Methodist and Our Lady of the Gulf churches have stepped up to be players, offering their parking lots and additional grounds to help us have a very successful event. Old Town businesses cooperate to the fullest.

We appreciate and are grateful to be a Cruisin' venue and thank the organization and our Hancock Tourism folks for helping us continue to host this valuable event," concluded the

The American Cancer women and breast cancer survivors Carlene Alfonso and Joanne Niciely.

Numerous businesses across the Coast have joined Think Pink. Individuals may visit any of the participating businesses during the month of October and pickup a pink ribbon to wear as well as breast cancer information.

Breast cancer information and any type of cancer information is also available 24 hours a day, seven days a week by calling 1-800-ACS-2345 or by visiting www.cancer.org.

"Breast cancer is 97 percent treatable when caught in its earliest stages," said Kelly, Health Felicia Initiatives Representative for the American Cancer Society. "We hope Think Pink helps spread -the word about early detection."

Breast cancer will strike 211.300 women this year in the United States and will change the lives of an estimated 39,800 women. In Mississippi alone, more than 2,500 women will be diagnosed with breast cancer in 2003 and an estimated 500 deaths will be attributed to the disease.

Breast cancer is the most common form of cancer in women, excluding skin cancer, and one of the most fatal if not detected early.

The American Cancer Society is the nationwide, community-based, voluntary health organization dedicated to eliminating cancer as a major health problem by preventing cancer, saving lives and diminishing suffering from cancer, through research, education, advocacy and serv-

Brandon Bulldogs clip the Hawks' wings 38-8

BY DWAYNE BREMER Contributing Writer

It was a game that the Hancock Hawks would rather just forget. The Hawks (3-2), came into Friday night's tilt with the Brandon Bulldogs with high hopes, and a three game winning streak. However, 60 minutes and five turnovers later, the Hawks found themselves on the wrong side of a 38-8 whipping.

"This is the hard part about playing in this district. Brandon has a really good team, and they took advantage of our mistakes," said Hawks head coach Rocky Gaudin.

The Bulldogs got it going early as Lawrence Weakley motored 44 yards for the first Bulldog touchdown early in the first quarter. Kevin Murriel added the point after, and the Bulldogs led 7-0.

The Hawks defense collected two turnovers late in the quarter, as Jonathan Lacoste recovered a fumble, and Eddie Bledsoe intercepted a pass, but the Hawks could not turn the turnovers into any points.

The Bulldogs struck paydirt again early in the second quarter when Greg Schaffhauser hit Ken Love on a short pass. Love did the rest with a nice spin move, and took it all the way for a 44-yard score. The extra point made the score 14-0, with 9.58 to play in the sec---score 24-2 with 2:01 to play ond. The Hawks offense then made a big play, as David the Hawks away as Thomas pass to Myron Fairley for a Boykin, 43-yard gain. On the next play, Jeremy Thomas went deep for Brown, but the pass was intercepted by Jeremy Horton at the one vard line.

The Hawks defense made the best of the situation, as Weakley was tackled at the endzone on the Bulldogs' first play by Barrios for a safety. The two points made the score 14-2.

The Hawks got good field position thanks to a 30-yard kickoff return by Brown to the 50. The Hawks could not pick up a first down, and punted back to the Bulldogs. The Bulldogs went on a seven-play march, covering 76 yards for their third score. Schaffhauser hit Love for a 53-yard pass, and Schaffhauser connected with David Berry for a nineyard touchdown to cap the drive. The extra point gave the Bulldogs a 21-2 lead with 2:49 to play in the half.

The Hawks came close to posting a score on the last play of the half. Adonis Washington threw to Daniel Spiers on a 54-yard pass, but Spires was stopped at the six yard line, and the half ran out.

The Bulldogs took control of the game in the third quarter, as they went on a nine-play drive that ate up plenty of the third quarter clock. Murriel booted a 46yard field goal to make the in the third.

The Bulldogs then put Brown tossed a half back was intercepted by Marcus

Gators chomp the Pirates 12-11

BY STEVE SMITH

Contributing Writer The Pass High Pirates amassing led the Gautier Gators for three quarters before a large crowd at War Memorial Stadium before allowing two fourth quarter touchdowns to erase their lead, losing 12 to 11.

Coach Bo Vonderbreugge said of his team's effort, "They played their hearts out and we've eliminated a lot of errors, but they were the better team tonight."

The Pirates took the opening kickoff and moved the length of the field on strong running by Jared Bowser and Brandon Riley. The Pirates led 8 to 0 with 8:12 to play in the first quarter with Bowser scoring the touchdown and the two-point conversion.

The Pirates held the Gators to 26 yards on their first posession and took over on their own 46 yard-line. With Jeffery Hillard at quarterback, the pirates managed three first downs before stalling out at the Gator 33 yard-line. A Jonathan Willis field goal attempt failed and Gautier took over at their 20 yardline. Ledeal Johnson recovered a Gator fumble three plays later and the Pirates were back on offense at the Gautier 43 yard-line. Runs by Jared Bowser and Charles Woods set up a thirty yard field goal by Willis and the Pirates took an 11 point lead as the first half came to a close.

Fine performances by the Gautier and Pass High bands entertained the crowd under fair skies and a warm breeeze.

The Pirates controlled the ball in the third period beaucoups yardage and first downs, but came up short on two scoring opportunities.

· Facing an eleven point deficit in the fourth quarter, the determined Gators got a break on an interference call that kept a shaky drive alive, and cut the lead to five on an 18-yard touchdown run by Jarrod Rudolf with 11:34 to play. The point after failed. The Pirates used almost five minutes of the time remaining on a 70yard drive that culminated with a missed field goal attempt. The Gators moved quickly to the Pirate 27 yard-line on a Gerrod Miskel pass. Chad Musgrove intercepted Miskel on the next play and it looked as if the Pirates would dodge the bullet. The Gator defense dug in, however, and forced a Pirate punt that fell short, giving Gautier good field position. The Gators moved quickly to the Pass High 10 yardline and on fourth and goal Gerrod Miskel connected with his brother Edwin Miskel for the go-ahead

The extra point failed, but the Gators led 12 to 11. With 2:27 to play the Pirates moved down field after Gautier's kick but ran out of time at the Gator 41 yard-line.

Jarrod Bowser ran for 113 yards and Brandon Riley added 51 as the Pirates totaled 18 first downs and 283 total yards. They face the D'Iberville Warriors next friday at D'Iberville.

Young players step up in BHS Tigers' win over Stone County

BY MAURICE SINGLETON Contributing Writer

Sophomore Kyle Moran's field goal on Bay High's second possession of overtime secured a 40-37 Tigers' win over the Stone County Tomcats in Perkinston on Friday night.

Moran's field goal came three plays after freshman Ben Davis blocked the Tomcats attempt at a field goal in the second overtime. giving the Tigers an excellent opportunity to close out the game with a field goal. But the Tigers didn't kick the field goal immediately; Moran rushed for three yards on first down and then grounded out two more vards on second down before he secured the win for the Tigers with the 22yard field goal.

"We work on special teams every day in practice," said Tigers' coach Glenn Williams. "In the close games, special teams can be the difference, like in this game. Kyle stepped up.

"We wanted to go for the block on the extra point kick, but we were scared that they might line up for two," Williams added, referring to the Tomcats' PAT kick after their first overtime score.

The Tigers' defense tightened in the second overtime, forcing a fourth down for the Tomcats at the Tigers' 4 yardline. The Tomcats lined up to kick a field goal, and the Tigers were successful on their designed play to block it.

"It was a must score for them, and we had to go after it." And the Tigers were successful, providing a lane to the ball for Davis.

In the first overtime, the Tigers took the lead with a 7-yard pass play from Zack Ferry to Lorenzo Lewis. Ferry rolled right and connected with Lewis on stride on a short flag route. Moran's extra point kick gave the Tigers a 37-30 lead.

The homecoming-ready Tomcats evened the score on the very next play on a 10yard Schuyler Huff run for the score, followed by Ryan Anderson's extra point kick.

After leading almost the entire ballgame, the Tigers were without the lead for the first time in the game at the 1:03 mark of the fourth quarter. Sophomore fullback Ervin Moore broke free for a 24-yard scoring run, followed by Anderson's extra point kick which tied the game in regulation at

The Ferry to Lewis passcatch combination was clicking in Perkinston on Friday night as Lewis caught eight Ferry passes for 218 yards and two touchdowns. On the night, Ferry completed 15 of 39 passes for 341 yards and four touchdowns with one interception. The Tigers set the tone for the game following the opening kickoff. On the very first play from scrimmage, Lewis turned a screen pass into a 53-yard play to the Tomcats' 23 yardline. Ferry then completed an 8-yarder to Brad Ladner and an 11-yarder to Antonio Hawkins. He threw three times incomplete into the end zone before Moran capped the drive with a field goal to give the Tigers an early 3-0 lead.

The Tigers' defense held the Tomcats to a net of 2 yards on their first possession after three snaps, forcing them to punt facing fourth and 8. The punt was fielded at Stone's 49 yardline. On the second play nected with Lewis again, this time for a 45-yard touchdown. The Tigers led 10-0 following Moran's extra point kick.

Stone County got on the scoreboard following an interception of a Ferry pass, giving the home team excellent field position at the Tigers' 20 yardline. Moore rushed for 2 yards on first down then added 3 more on second down. Huff lost 4 yards on third down, forcing a fourth and 9 situation for Tomcats. Ryan Anderson split the uprights for a 36-yard field goal for the Tomcats' first score of the night with 5 ticks remaining in the first quarter. The Tigers fielded the ensuing kickoff at their own 28. On the next play Ferry connected with Lewis for his third reception of the night and the longest pass play of the night, a 69-yard play to the Tomcats 3 yard-line. Moran carried the dis-from scrimmage, Ferry contance for the score to increase the Tigers' lead to 16-0 (following a failed extra point kick attempt).

> The Tomcats scored on their next possession, culminating a 10-play drive with a 17-yard Moore run for the score. Anderson's extra point kick closed out first half scoring with the Tigers leading 16-10.

> Lorenzo Lewis intercepted Oshea Martin on the third play of the second half to set up the Tigers next score. On the first play from scrimmage, Ferry connected with Antonio Hawkins for a 28-yard touchdown pass to increase the Tigers' lead to 23-10 following Moran's extra point kick.

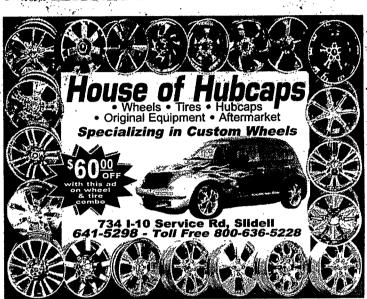

> The next two scores of the game came from Moore of Stone, the first a 41-yard pass reception for the score, and the second a 30 yard touchdown run. Anderson's extra point kick evened the score at 23-23 with 3:08 remaining in the third quarter. Unfortunately for the Tomcats, Anderson's extra point kick after the first third quarter touchdown was blocked by the Tigers.

Enith in the properties of the contract of the Minister of the properties of the contract of t

The Tigers took the lead again with 10:06 remaining in regulation as Ferry completed consecutive passes to Javon Williams. The first a 17-varder to the Stone County 8 yardline, followed by an 8-yarder for the score. Moran's extra point kick gave the Tigers a 30-23 lead. Stone County drove the field 77 yards in just over a minute in a half to put the game into overtime. Moore again came up big, capping the drive with a 24yard touchdown run with 1:03 remaining in regulation. The win gives the Tigers a 4-1 record (1-0 district) going into a tough 5game district schedule that begins next week in Bay St. Louis. SSC stings the Hornets for 24-20 division win

BY JOSEPH W. GEX II Staff Writer

The St. Stanislaus Rocka-chaws broke a three-game losing skid and scored a division win with a 24-20 victory on the road against the East Central Hornets Friday night.

The Rocks moved to 1-0 in Division 8-4A and 2-3 overall while the Hornets fell to 3-2 overall and 1-1 in the division.

SSC seemed to have corrected their mistakes that have cost them valuable field position and possession in their last two losses to Long Beach and Ocean Springs. Also, the Rocks had dedicated this game to one of their managers, Cory Ladner, who faced major surgery today for an illness. Coach Casey Wittmann held up the game ball for Ladner and the team will deliver it to Ladner this Rock-a-chaw head coach Casey Wittmann stated, "All the hard games that we have played this season paid off for us tonight. We were able to run the ball well in the first half. East Central stacked the line on us in the second half and we were pressed into throwing the ball. We work on both facets of the offense very hard. The main thing for our team tonight was the fact that we did not committ the costly mistakes that we have in the past two games. East Central got some momentum with their first drive of the second half. But, our players didn't SSC started on offense first and mounted a 12-play drive that featured the hard running of senior fullback Matt Hoda and senior halfback Rob Smith.

The Rocks got three first score at 7-7 with his PAT at downs on the drive aided by the bruising offensive line of Herman Johnson, Bob Bass, Nick Weinmann, Kace Mitchell, and JC Brignone.

The Rocks ended up having to punt the ball away on the drive. Michael Kivlan pinned the Hornets at their own 17 yardline.

Each team traded possessions before East Central lit the scoreboard first. The Hornets took over at midfield and scored quickly on a five-play drive. MCqueen connected with Dematio Wells for a 25-yard score with :35 left in the opening quarter. Joseph Shambeau made good on the PAT and the score was 7-0. The score was set up by 20-yard burst from Octavian Safford on the second play from scrimmage.

It seemed as though disaster was about to strike the Rocks on the ensuing kickoff. The Hornets tried an onsides kicj and recovered the ball that bounced off a Rock player on the front line. However, the Rock defense led by Lee Klein, Jordan Ellis, Mike Cure, Nick Weinmann, Travis Morris, and others held firm and forced a punting situation.

The Rocks started from their own 17 yardline and used gains by Smith of 5, 10 and 4 yards to move into Hornet territory. A rush by Hoda for 14 yards and a pass interference penalty on the Hornets set up the Rock touchdown.

Tim Kulikowski found his favorite target, Mike Cure, who broke a tckle to Schmitt tallied 9 kills while score from 35 yards out. a 21-yard field goal for SSC one last play and they the 9:16 mark of the second quarter.

East Central would punt away on their next possession giving the Rocks possession at their own 43 yardline.

Seven plays later, the Rocks took the lead with an 18-yard burst by Matt Hoda with 5:38 left in the half. Kivlan connected on the PAT making the score 14-7. Rob Smith toted the mail four times for gains of 11, 4, 5 and two yards to set up Hoda's score.

The two teams traded possessions for the remainder of the half as neither team was able to move the chains. SSC took a 14-7 lead at intermission.

The Hornets had the ball to open the second and took advantage of the opportunity. The Hornets started on their own 20 yardline and mounted a 14-play drive that resulted in a East Central score and took eight minutes off the clock. Using a good mixture of running backs, the Hornets methodically moved the ball down to the Rock four yardline. There, McQueen connected with Wells for a four-yard touchdown pass with 4:09 left in the quarter. The PAT by Shambeau missed leaving the score 14-13.

The Rocks managed a first down off an East Central penalty on their first drive of the second half; however, they had to punt away. East Central fumbled the ball back to SSC on their first play of the ensuing possession. Three plays later, Michael Kivlan booted

The Hornets returned the kickoff to the Rock 45 yardline to enjoy excellent field position. It took the Hornets nine plays to strike paydirt and take a one possession lead in the game.

Safford broke free for a 37-yard gain but a dead ball penalty broke the gain back partially. The Hornets rotated backs to chip away the yardage on the Rocks. Mcquuen threw his third touchdown pass of the night which was a 9-yard toss to Safford with 6:43 left in the game. Shambeau connected on the PAT making the score 20-17.

The Rocks used a nineplay drive of their own to take the lead back for good. Following a loss of 11 yards on a quarterback sack on the first play, the Rocks went to the airwaves seven straight plays. Cure was the recipient of the pass on five of the seven plays with gains of 12, 21, 7, 13 and 15

SSC decided to pound the ball on the ninth play to keep the defense honest and Hoda scored from eight yards out with 2:12 left in the game. Kivlan converted on the PAT to make the final score 24-20.

SSC safety Anthony Taylor intercepted McQueen's pass on the third play of the drive to stop the first threat of an East Central comeback. The Rocks were unable to gain a first down and had to punt away with :12.6 left in the

OLA wins round 2 over Bay High girls in volleyball action

BY JOSEPH W. GEX II Staff Writer

The Our Lady Academy Crescents forced a tie in the division standings for high school volleyball with a win over Bay High 2-0. The scores of the two games were 15-8 and 15-8.

This match was another dose of athleticism and will between the two teams. A vocal crowd was present, again, at the Father Peter Mockler Gymnasium to cheer each team on.

On several occasions during the match, each team displayed awesome athletic ability with bodies digging and flying around for loose Each team was balls. relentless in their pursuit for possession of the serve.

OLA head coach Mike Meyers stated, "Without a doubt, this was the most competitve match that I have been involved in since I have been coaching OLA. And, all the credit goes to Bay High and OLA. This was a terrific match and both teams were exceptional. We played a very composed game. The players stayed level throughout the match and played like worker bees. All eight girls played with their heart and did their jobs on the court. It was a complete team effort."

OLA was led by Lauren Renz and Amanda Meyers with 7 points each. Kaylee each had 5 kills. Rachel Cranford tallied 16 assists for OLA.

Bay High was led by Tamara Reed with 8 assists. Tori lansaw had 4 kills and 4 points while Lindsey Trotter had 4 points. Kendra Reed finished with

Bay High head coach Lis Bosarge commented, "This was a very competitive match between both teams. We played composed and had tremendous effort from everyone."

Earlier in the week, the Crescents defeated the Lady Pirates 15-1 and 15-9. Lauren Renz led OLA with 9 points and 9 kills. Sarah loiacano had 7 points and Rachel Cuevas had 8 kills.

Sink or be Sunk

The General Armstrong and the Battle in the Bay of St. Louis

n the 25th and 26th of this month in 1814, a sea battle was fought in Horta, the port of Fayal one of the Portuguese islands of the Azores west of Africa. The far away battle would later affect the two-day battles of Bay St. Louis and St. Joe Pass and ultimately contribute to the British failure in the Battle of New Orleans. When I wrote my book, Sink or be Sunk, I kept finding indications of this earlier sea action but only found out its details after my book went to press. It would have made a great opening for my book. What follows is a best guess combination of the extremely contradictory American accounts.

In the summer of 1814, three British warships set out from England to a rendezvous in the Gulf of Mexico. These were, Plantagenet (a ship of the line with 74 guns), Rota (a frigate with 38 guns) and Carnation (a sloop with 18 guns). Under the over-all command of Post-Captain Robert Lloyd, this task force was to join Vice Admiral Sir Alexander Cochrane's large fleet of over 60 ships being assembled off the Chandelier Islands south of what would later become the State of Mississippi.

Captain Lloyd had been ordered to sail his ships to Fayal, one of the Azores islands, to await two more frigates, Thais and Calypso. Once these vessels had joined his command, he was to proceed directly to join the assembling invasion fleet of Admiral Cochrane. Captain Lloyd was well aware of the importance of the ships under his command to the British invasion, vet what he saw when he arrived off Fayal made him momentarily forget his primary orders and begin an engagement that would ultimately seriously flaw his mission.

Sitting in Horta, the port of Fayal, was an American privateer, General Armstrong. Out of New York, the privateer was a schooner with a crew of about 90 men and armed with 14 cannon, including one large (32 pounder) long cannon on a traverse mount.

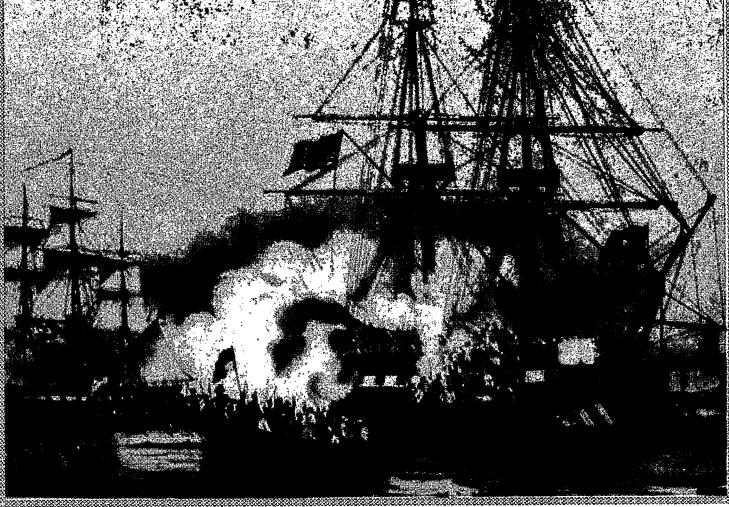

The schooner was commanded by Captain Samuel Reid (who is reputed to have helped design the American flag and in later years to have designed the lightships that were later used off the US

Privateers were not official US Navy vessels but were actually ships owned by individuals and carried Letters of Marque (marque, from old French meaning, capture).

In essence, such an official government letter allowed a citizen or a cartel of citizens, to equip and arm a private ship as a man of war and send it forth under an experienced captain to capture enemy ship-

Once captured, the ships and their cargos were considered prizes owned by the patron or cartel. This was an extremely lucrative practice and these type documents were commonplace in the early 19th century. It was a very practical way for nations at war to enlarge their navy's ability to wage war on their enemy's sea going commerce at almost no cost to themselves.

The General Armstrong was such a ship and carried such a letter. However, when Captain Lloyd saw her, she was sitting in the supposed safety of a neutral port.

Captain Lloyd hated privateers. To Captain Lloyd's way of thinking what he saw in the. port was nothing more than a despicable American pirate.

This, despite the fact that the British Admiralty method of doling out prize money for captured enemy warships and merchant ships, was in essence identical and many British naval officers owed their wealth to the prize sys-

In fact, Captain Lloyd's initial actions on seeing the General Armstrong indicated that he wanted to take the privateer intact and thus collect its prize value from the Admiralty. Figuring that the schooner should be easily taken, he ordered Plantagenet's Lieutenant Robert Faussett to assemble a full crew of heavily armed sailors and marines and to take the Plantagenet's large twelve-oar pinnace into the port to reconnoiter. The possibility of Lieutenant Faussett carrying the privateer was implicit in his orders.

Meanwhile, aboard the American privateer, Captain Reid had seen the British ships arrive in the roads outside the General Armstrong. When the pinnace and its armed crew came too close for what Reid believed was the safety of his vessel, he hailed it and ordered it away, threatening to fire on them if they did not do so.

According to British accounts. Lieutenant Faussett's boat was caught in the port's strong and rather tricky tidal currents and despite maneuvering to avoid the schooner, was swept close in to the General Armstrong.

Whatever the reason, Captain Reid, feeling he had no recourse since the armed boat's closeness exposed his ship to boarders, opened fire.

As the current carried the heavily damaged pinnace away from the privateer, Lieutenant Faussett found that the one-sided exchange had left him with two dead and seven wounded. Moving the marines to replace the injured rowers, he prudently turned back to report what had happened to Captain Lloyd.

Captain Lloyd was enraged! some 400 men). He sent a note to the Portuguese governor ashore demanding he give up the Carnation with its 18 guns and results were lopsided in favor of the Americans. When Captain Lloyd received the Portuguese governor's reply, he felt he had more than enough force at hand to comply with the American's invitation to fight.

According to the British ordered account, Lieutenant William Matterface, first officer of Rota, to take three of Rota's boats and four of Plantagenet's boats, mount on each a single large carronade (powerful short-range cannon) and load them with 180 sailors and marines (according to several American accounts of the action, there were 12 boats and

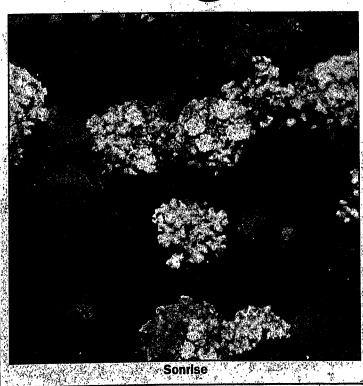

As if all this was not enough, Captain Lloyd ordered shallow draft to move in with the boats and provide them cover in their advance. Note that the Carnation was not to lead the assault with the ship boats giving assistance, but quite the reverse. Captain Lloyd clearly wanted the schooner intact.

Meanwhile, Captain Reid had moved the privateer to a better defensive position close to shore and, placing springs on her anchor to steady her heading and rigging boarding nets and swivel guns, awaited the coming of what he knew would be the inevitable British reprisal. Since there would be no need for any of the crew to handle the well-anchored vessel, all hands were assigned gun stations or defensive positions to repel boarders. With these preparations, the Americans waited.

The British report also states that the Americans had a small battery placed on the headland on the shore nearest the schooner. There is no other indication that one existed and

Winning lantanas can come from Mississippi

BY NORMAN WINTER MSU Horticulturist Central Mississippi Research & Extension Center

Yonrise was first, then came Samson (the per-Ofect fall plant), and now Sonset is probably the prettiest lantana ever created. These are precious gifts from a divine creator, and developer Jim Covington will quickly give the glory where it is due.

Sonrise, the first lantana named by Covington, is vigorous and produces colors of yellow, orange and pink-magenta shades. Sonrise was discovered as a sport, or a mutation, from the old ham and eggs lantana that came through the 1983 winter without a whimper.

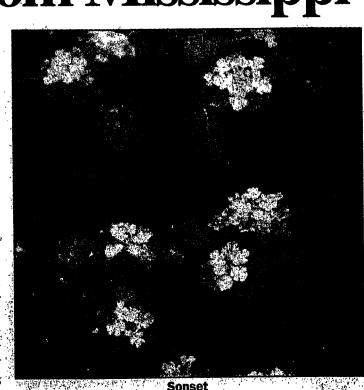

New Gold lantana, the first

Sonrise has been featured in magazines nationwide and has performed extremely well in the trial grounds at the Truck Crops Branch Experiment Station in Crystal Springs.

Samson actually came from stock that has been growing in Oxford. Strangely enough, the flowers aren't the same color as the ones from the mother plant.

They start off yellow and change to a brilliant orange. I grew this one at my house for a orty-four volunteers from Main Street United Methodist Church in Bay St. Louis, primarily parents, friends and Boy Scout Troop 360, the Weeblos and Cub Pack, participated in the Mississippi Coastal Cleanup Day in Hancock County on Saturday, Sept. 20. Dividing into several groups, they cleaned the beach area from Ramoneda to Bienville Streets, the parking lot at the end of South Beach Boulevard and the side of the road from the lot to Lakeshore Road.

Main Street United Methodist Church participates in MS Coastal Cleanup

After the volunteers finished their jobs, they joined other beach cleanup participants and all enjoyed hot dogs and hamburgers, cold water and smoothies. Lunch was provided by the Office of Congressman Gene Taylor and da Beach House. Free tote bags were also given to the workers. This was the 15th Annual MS Cleanup, which is held in conjunction with the International Coastal Cleanup each year and sponsored by MS Marine Debris Task Force.

Participating in this project is just one way that the church seeks to reach out in service and love to the community and the world. On "Make a Difference Day" on Oct. 25 there will be another opportunity to serve the community. If you would like to join in this and/or other activities, call the church office at 467-4538 for details. All are welcome.

because of the inaccuracies of the cannons of the early 1800's and the danger such a battery would have posed to the General Armstrong as well as the British boats in the close fought battle that was expected, I doubt that it existed.

This was the situation at sunset. In the town of Horta, people gathered on the docks and stood on rooftops to watch what promised to be a rather noisy night action. Shortly after sunset. Plantagenet and Rota anchored off Horta and launched their boats. Shortly after the seven boats and their heavily armed cargos headed to where the General Armstrong lay barely visible in the dark.

Accompanying them, for at least part of the distance, came Carnation. Again the strong mid-Atlantic tidal currents entered into the action and Carnation could not get within gun shot of the American schooner and as a result took no part in the action that followed. In my reading of the several accounts, I detected a certain ineptness in the handling of the vessel by the British commanding officer and it is probably just as well for all concerned that Carnation took no part in the night action.

As the seven armed boats moved into the dark port, the tricky currents hindered their progress as well, and it was not until midnight when the boats, moving out from behind a small covering reef of rocks, got within range of the waiting General Armstrong's guns.

Theodore Roosevelt in his book, The Naval War of 1812 (Modern Library ed.); wrote about what happened next:

"The Americans opened with the pivot-gun, and immediately afterward with their long 9's, while the boat replied with their cannonades, and, pulling spiritedly on amid a terrific fire of musketry from both sides, laid the schooner aboard on her bow and starboard quarter. The struggle was savage enough, the British hacking at the nettings and trying to clamber up on deck, while the Americans fired their muskets and pistols in the faces of their assailants and thrust the foremost through with their long pikes. The boats on the quarter were driven off, but on the forecastle all three of the American lieutenants were killed or disabled, and the men were giving back when Captain Reid led all the after-division up and drove the British back into their boats."

"Two boats were sunk, most of the wounded being saved as the shore was so near; 2 others were captured and but three of the scattered flotilla returned to the ship. Of the Americans. 2 were killed, including the second lieutenant, Alexander O. Williams, and 7 were wounded, including the first third lieutenants. Frederick A. Worth and Robert Johnson.'

Thus beaten off, the remaining three boats returned to the waiting British ships, arriving at the anchorage at about 2 am. The British loss was disastrous no matter whose account is taken as being true. If we believe the British version, it was still bad: approximately two thirds of the attacking British force were killed or wounded! The British breakdown was three officers (including Lieutenant Matterface) and 31 seamen and marines killed, five officers and 81 seamen and marines wounded.

However, Captain Lloyd was not about to give up. It was as if he had been drawn into a worsening spiral that he was unable to psychologically extract himself.

With the coming of daylight, he ordered Carnation to move in and directly engage the schooner. Although Carnation had heavier caliber guns then General Armstrong, these were all short range carronades. General Armstrong guns were long cannon. For Carnation to succeed, she had to close quickly with the American vessel. As soon as Carnation came within long cannon range, Captain Reid opened fire with his 32 pounder, moving it adroitly on its traverse. The resulting action resembled an engagement between protagonists with one group armed with shotguns and the other rifles.

By noon, Carnation came out again. She had not done well. Her main topmast was the battle came from William bowsprit shot her aown, through and 15 of her crew were dead. Carnation would not, without considerable delay, be able to continue with the British squadron to the Chandelier rendezvous.

Captain Lloyd's force so far had lost 210 killed, 140 wounded, including almost all of Rota's officers and four of couple of years before it was named, and it has performed to expectations.

Gardening

When you think about fall festivals, harvests and pumpkins, this lantana will come to mind. It is perfect to use in the landscape, in containers or as decorations.

Sonset is the most remarkable of any lantana I have had the opportunity to grow. I have seen bright colors on a couple of other selections, but they either don't grow over 6 inches high or set fruit like grape clusters and thus don't bloom much. Sonset starts off yellow and is followed by orange to red, magenta and purple. You will find tiny petals with more than one color.

The flowers are amazing in that you look at them at 8 a.m. and two hours later, they have changed. It is a kaleidoscope of ever-changing colors throughout the day. The plants are vigorous, but at just the right pace. The colors are bright, saturated and brilliant.

These lantanas were named and released out of Clinton, but commercial producers throughout the state and in Louisiana, Alabama and other states will welcome these flowers because they are superior in color, habit and hardiness.

You might be reluctant to think about trying a lantana this time of the year. One thing for sure, they are blooming now and will be blooming until the first really hard freeze. You can grow them in containers and protect them, or plant them now and mulch with a good layer of pine straw. Come next spring, you will be ahead of the game.

Lantanas need full sun and a fertile, well-drained bed to develop these vibrant colors. After they are established, they are very drought tolerant.

If your favorite garden center doesn't have these lantana varieties yet, ask them to get some for you. You will be doing them a favor if they haven't seen them.

They may still think all new great plants come from California or Brazil, but I assure you, some come from Mississippi, too!

DMR receives Gulf Guardian Award

Marine Resources (DMR) received a first place Gulf Guardian Award in the Government Category for its Derelict Crab Trap Removal Program.

The award was presented to Bill Richardson and Traci Floyd of the DMR's Shrimp and Crab Bureau Sept. 24 during a ceremony held at the Mississippi Coast Coliseum in Biloxi in conjunction with the Southern States Environmental Conference and Exhibition.

"The Mississippi Department of Marine Resources is continuing to set the standard for other states to follow when it comes to the preservation of our state's waterways as well as the Gulf of Mexico," Governor Ronnie Musgrove said. "This award is a testament to the tremendous dedication of the DMR staff and their good work for our entire state."

The Gulf of Mexico Program developed the Gulf Guardian awards in 2000 to recognize environmental excellence in Alabama, Florida, Louisiana, Mississippi, and Texas. First, second, and third place awards are given each year in six categories-Business, Individuals, Youth/Education, Nonprofit/Civic states.

"Derelict crab traps can pose a serious navigational hazard to boaters and may be a danger to marine and aquatic life. The closed crab season allowed us to remove traps Mississippi's marine waters and collect valuable data about the quantity and type of marine life that may become ensnared in these abandoned traps," DMR Executive Director William Walker said. "Our Shrimp and Crab Bureau staff have logged countless hours over the last four years removing and recycling derelict crab traps. It is gratifying to see their efforts recognized with a Gulf Guardian Award."

More than 4,000 derelict crab traps have been retrieved and recycled through the Derelict Crab Trap Removal Program since the program began in 1999. Derelict traps are defined as traps, which are un-buoyed, unmarked and not actively fished. These traps are abandoned or lost due to many factors includ-Organizations, ing floats that are cut by he Great Books Discussion Group will begin a new series at its next meeting on Wednesday, Oct. 1, at 7 p.m. in the Seal Room of the Bay St. Louis-Hancock County Library.

"Rothschild's Fiddle" by Anton Chekhov will be the selection to be discussed. It is from "An Introduction Great Books, First Series. Several copies are available for checkout at the Bay St. Louis-Hancock County

Library. The Great Books discussion group, sponsored by the Hancock County Library System, has been meeting and discussing books since March, 1990. During that time, they read more than 345 titles from great books (Plato, Hobbes, Locke deTocqueville), Mississippi fiction, play readings and 20 philosophical questions. The group meets every other Wednesday at 7 p.m.

The Great Books Foundation was established in 1947 by University of Chicago Chancellor Robert Manyard Hutchins. Its mission is to provide people of all ages, backgrounds and walks of life with the opportunity to read, discuss and learn from outstanding works of literature.

Today, more than 20,000 adults are members of Great Books discussion groups, and nearly one million stuparticipate in dentsGreat Books Junior groups for grades kindergarten through 12.

Anyone is welcome to attend the meetings. The only requirement is that you read the selection before the meeting. For information, call Jamie Elston at 228-467-5282.

Be health-alert for full life

LeDoux, SVD

When persons 25 years your junior have symptoms of or a fullblown heart attack or stroke, it is more than a bit unnerving.

However, much more disturbing are the habits of most of the same people who Reflections appear too weak to turn their backs on eating and living habits which sicken them.

It doesn't get any easier when some of those hapless eaters are close relatives or friends. French fries po-boys, a New Orleans specialty, are one of many items which shock our health sensitivities when we just think of starch on starch, not to mention lots of oil and salt.

So, is there hope on the horizon as we hear in the current news that sales of French fries are down 15 percent? And this appears to be much more than a reaction against President Jacques Chirac. As to be expected, the potato processors are up in arms and aiming to counter the troubling downturn.

But how can we explain the memory lapse or simple attention deficit of the public at large concerning vital health news which is put forth by all the media, yet is being ignored or not absorbed by most people? And how do we know most people are ignoring or not absorbing vital health news?

Easily. The media themselves are guilty of this phenomenon. Time after time. certain elements of the news are presented as news, whereas they are actually old news which has been presented once or twice before.

Shall we say the media have ADD, or are just pursuing the money-bearing stories?

paradox has been in the news off and on for a number of years. Nevertheless, it still comes into focus periodically as new news. And that is bad news, because it indicates low awareness in the media and an even greater lack among the reading, viewing and

Yes, the French paradox was back in the news again just a few days ago. If you have forgotten, or if you are simply not aware, the French paradox is the anomaly of healthiness among the French despite their craving for and frequent indulgence in their fatty pates of various kinds, among other foods.

Their vascular system should logically be sluggish and clogged with every imaginable fat by-product, notably plaque. That logic notwithstanding, the French by and large are not afflicted with plaque, heart disease, high blood pressure or most of the dire consequences of those disorders.

Of all things, coming to the rescue is red wine which the French quaff often and in conquantity. siderable Unexpectedly, health scientists have found that red wine contains a lot of antioxidants which attack the appropriately-named wild radicals, the triggers of many physical diseases.

So the French almost have the best of both worlds: heavy indulgence in savory, fatty foods; yet health beyond all our expecby Father Jerome tations. I never cease to be amazed at the blank stares and unbelieving "Huh?" reactions whenever I bring up the French paradox. "The French who? The French what?" Rarely have I met anyone who knew anything about the French paradox.

Unfortunately, the French paradox is but one of several health old news items which keep surfacing as new news. Just July 14 past, I did an article titled "Fat Is As Fat Does," challenging the obese not to take themselves lightly. I lent my voice to a new 9 A Day Campaign to combat can-

"Black men, eat more fruits and veggies! In fact, eat nine portions of fruits and veggies every day!"

This was the stern, life-crisis warning issued by the National Medical Association, a professional group of black doctors which is supporting the prevention program, African-American 9 A Day Campaign, initiated by the National Cancer Institute.

Now do you think the 9 A Day Campaign has been a conversation piece, at least among blacks? Or that it has been discussed even a little bit on the radio, on TV, in some paper, at least by a few blacks? Not to my knowledge.

As recently as Aug. 31, in the Living section of the Times Picayune in New Orleans, as if this whole ques-For instance, the French tion were new news instead of very old news, the headlines read: "Fruits, Veggies Touted to Cut Black Cancer Rate"

Déjà vu all over again? Yes, follow the 9 A Day Campaign, we were invited. So, what is so troubling about this new presentation in the news? It was definitely presented as if it were hot news, meaning the newspawas remiss for not explaining it was stale. Worse, the black people I showed it to had not seen it nor heard of it. And this is the second time around, folks.

While blacks may be in for the most violent bucking, it looks as if the whole nation is in for a long, bad ride, beginning with our deadbeat, apathetic attitude of not being alert to health news, being ignorant or ignoring it, and living in denial of the terrible plight of our health.

As time slips away from us older folks, we see ever more clearly the imperative need we all have to be health-alert in order to have any hope of enjoying our life to the full. That is a huge part of the command of Jesus in John 10:10: "I came that they might have life, and have it to the full."

Kiwanis Club of Hancock-West Harrison News

Colonel speaks about military experience, club holds banquet for new officers, directors

(Top left) Colonel Harold Stoddard, USMC, recently gave a very informative talk to the Kiwanis Club of Hancock-West Harrison members, about his experience and involvement in support of Iraqi Freedom while stationed in Kuwait for several months. He is the son of Roy and Arvilla Stoddard, who reside in Pass Christian. Pictured on the right is the club's president, Bernard Chevalier.

Sensible (TOPS) MS No. Waveland, Thursday, September 25th at Triumphant Christian Church. 11 members were present. Joanna was the weekly best loser. Paula was the top KOPS. Joanna received award.

Rhonda gave an excellent lecture on Cardio Exercise. She explained all the benefits and different types of cardio exercise. Next week she plans on demonstrating these techniques. So come and join our group.

Checking in With Nancy _enehan

By John Crook © Zap2it

Nancy Lenehan wants to get one thing straight about "Married to the Kellys," her new Friday-night ABC sitcom about a young man raised as an only child who marries into a large, close-knit Midwest family.

"I was kind of shocked when some people said they thought we were making fun of this family, because that is totally untrue," the actress, who plays sunny matriarch Sandy Kelly in the series, says, "Our show is about the little traditions and rituals that every family develops over the years, things that feel perfectly natural to them, but seem bizarre to someone outside the family.

"Almost everything in our show, like the uncle who makes people kiss his ring, is based on reality. And I think these people are just perfectly lovely."

The versatile Lenehan, who easily moves from comedy to drama and back, began her training as an actress while earning a degree in theater from a tiny college in Yankton, S.D.

"I was so happy," she recalls. "It was like I went off to live on a mountain and do all these plays. And we did everything, including big musicals. I haven't been back since graduation. It's a prison now."

She pauses, then cracks up, "I'm not kidding about that, you know, it really is!"

Lenehan's name may not be familiar to all viewers, but most recognize her face from literally dozens of TV guest appearances, most memorably as the harried teacher of Brett Butler's son in "Grace Under Fire."

"I had so much fun on that show." she says. "Eventually, they promoted me to principal, so I could stay around, but in one episode I was back in the classroom sniffing chalk, trying to get back to my roots!

The Eye focuses on the FBI grippingly in 'The Handler'

By Jacqueline Cutler © Zap2it

In a season crammed with police dra-mas, CBS "The Handler" is the best of the bunch. While other shows feature highly placed police officials who look too young to vote, this Friday hight show offers fare that is believable.

Much of that is because of its star, Joe Pantoliano. He plays FBI agent Joe Renato, who trains agents to go under cover in Los Angeles. He is like a director and the agents are his actors - only in their world there are no second takes.

Pantoliano uses his natural swagger to prove he is just as comfortable playing the good guy. Though acting professionally for 31 years, Pantoliano shot to fame for losing his head - literally - when Tony the mob boss hacked it off last season in The Sopranos.

Now his Hoboken, N.J., attitude and accent are on the right side of the law as he terrifies neophyte agents into doing only the best job. Do otherwise, he warns, and they could easily be murdered.

In the pilot that aired last week, Lily

(Anna Belknap) posed as a homeless woman and befriended a drug dealer. Just as she found herself trapped in a creepy guy's bathroom, she also learned Joe set her up to teach her a lesson. The pilot also established a subplot where Joe's brother Lou (John Cassini) gets released from prison and temporarily moves in with Joe.
As of press time, four episodes had been shot, but CBS had not yet decided in what order they would air. In upcoming episodes, Darnell (Hill Harper) poses as a carjacker to infiltrate a gang of bank robbers; Lily goes under cover as a bartender to nab a crooked judge; and Heather (Lola Glaudini) poses as a realtor to enter the home of a drug-runner and his rehab-sequestered wife (played by quest star Laura San Giacomo).

Audiences who caught last week's premiere of The WB Network's Tuesday drama "One Tree Hill" may have felt a little overwhelmed as they tried to wrap their minds around a large cast of characters bearing a dizzying history among them.

Set in the small fictional town of Tree Hill, N.C., the show focuses on teenage half-brothers Lucas and Nathan Scott (Chad Michael Murray, James Lafferty). Lucas' mom, Karen (Moira Kelly), has raised him on her own since Dah (Paul Johansson), her high-school boyfriend, abandoned her to pursue a career in college and professional basketball. Dan's older brother, garage mechanic Keith Scott (Craig Sheffer), has tried to serve as Lucas' surrogate father, while quietly carrying a torch for Karen.

Dan's hoops career didn't pan out, so he has returned to Tree Hill with the well-to-do wife he met in college and Nathan, the only son he publicly acknowledges. As last week's premiere episode ended, Lucas decided he was ready to take on his arrogant half-sibling on Nathan's own turf: the local varsity basketball court. Also at stake: the romantic interest of Nathan's beautiful head cheerleader girlfriend, Peyton Sawyer (Hilarie Burton).

"Yeah, that first episode kind of said,
"I'm a pilot,' didn't it?" Murray says, taking a cigarette break inside his dressing room trailer in Wilmington, N.C. "I loved the way Mark (Schwahn, the series creator) just drops you into the middle of this very complicated world, but yeah, it was a lot to take in.

"This second episode is even better, though. In fact, one scene toward the end made me cry - and I do not cry when I read scripts!" he adds, tapping a table with his index finger for empha-

WB viewers may know the 22-yearold actor from his recurring role as high-school rogue Tristan DuGrey on "Gilmore Girls" or the title role in an illstarred 2003 pilot for a projected "Lone Ranger" series.

On this rainy late-summer afternoon, with a large, friendly dog aggressively competing for his attention, however, Murray looks less like the golden boy from WB Network promos than a serious young actor who recognizes a major career break when he sees one.

It also helps that he feels deeply connected to Lucas - "Luke," to his mom and close friends.

"I was kind of an outcast in high school," Murray volunteers. "I had no friends. I was a nerd, and I was from a family with a history that a lot of people knew about, and because I didn't have a lot of money, while everybody else was getting into trends and fashion, I would wear Payless shoes, a pair of jeans and a white T-shirt every day, which only kind of excluded me further.

"I enjoyed the educational part of it, and I did well in my classes, but I wasn't one of the guys who thought, 'Wow, how great is high school!' Even then, I was looking past it, wondering what was out there"

If that isn't enough, Murray also understands Lucas' most personal source of pain: a parent's abandonment

"My mother abandoned us when I was 10, so I grew up with just my father raising us," he explains. "I don't think you can understand what it's like to be a kid who has a parent just walk out of your life like that unless you've actually been through it. I've lived it. In a lot of ways, Lucas' story is my story."

"It must be a wonderful, freeing opportunity for Chad to bring so much of his personal experience to this part, use it and then let it go," says Kelly, Murray's TV mom. "While I think the dynamic is maybe a little different in that he grew up with just a father, as opposed to just a mother as Luke did, it's obvious Chad feels very connected to this character."

to this character."

The actress, who is expecting her second child in November, croons "Hide the bay-beeee" as crew members artfully drape the shirttails of her costume to shield any sign of her offscreen pregnancy. Kelly says viewers will see some very different aspects of her character in the second episode.

I loved Bobby Cannavale on "Third Watch." What has he done since "Kingpin"? -Lorri in Nebraska.

Like most of today's best actors, Cannavale, 32, comes to television and film from work in the New York theater.

Almost at the same time that the New Jersey-born, Florida-reared Cannavale was playing violent stud Chato Cadena in the 2003 NBC miniseries "Kingpin," he was mixing it up as creepy, sexually ambivalent inmate Alonzo Torquemada on the final season of the HBO prison drama "Oz." He also stars currently in the critically acclaimed independent film "The Station Agent."

The son of an Italian father and a Cuban mother, Cannavale has a 5-year-old son with wife Jenny Lumet, daughter of director Sidney Lumet and granddaughter of vocalist Lena Horne. Next up, Cannavale has a featured

Rob Lowe enters 'The Lyon's Den' as NBC drama debuts

By Jay Bobbin @ Zan2it

Seeking what "The West Wing" wasn't giving him, Rob Lowe found it much sooner than he expected.

Shortly after announcing he was leaving the series last season, the actor was approached about starring in another NBC series. The result is the law drama "The Lyon's Den," premiering Sunday, Sept. 28. In addition to being an executive producer of the John Grisham-like saga, Lowe stars as Jack Turner, an idealistic attorney recruited as managing partner of a prominent Washington, D.C., firm after the job's previous holder - Jack's mentor - apparently commits suicide.

A big enticement for Jack is the chance to save the pro-bono clinic he has worked for, though his closest colleague there (Matt Craven, "L.A. Doctors") feels betrayed. In his new office, lack deals with a rival (Kyle Chandler, "Early Edition") who wants his own partnership.

Other members of the firm are played by Elizabeth Mitchell ("ER"), Frances Fisher ("Titanic"), James Pickens Jr. ("Beverly Hills, 90210") and David Krumholtz (best-known as the patient who killed Kellie Martin's character on "ER"). Rip Torn ("The Larry Sanders Show") has a recurring role as Jack's father, a U.S. senator.

"I was looking to do another ensemble (piece)," Lowe says. "I love working with great actors, and this is an amazing group. I felt like I had a lot of unfinished business on 'The West Wing.' There were things I didn't get to accomplish, and in this show, I get to deal with some of the things I love.

That's what drew me to playing a true believer, to themes that have some majesty and some heft to them.

"The other thing," Lowe adds, "is that this gives me an opportunity to be an executive producer. If I was going to come back to television, particularly so quickly, I wanted to come back in a way where I could learn about a different area of the business and really ... and, frankly, bring some of the stuff I have in me that just wasn't to be (utilized) at my old job."

It's no coincidence that one of the first scenes in "The Lyon's Den" shows Lowe jogging away from the White House. "As an actor, I just want to be involved in stories with some 'teeth,' "
he explains. "(On 'The West Wing,') it was never about screen time for me. I found that Sam (Seaborn, the deputy press secretary played by Lowe on that show) was having less and less to do with the stories on the show that were really important.

Lowe won't face that on "The Lyon's Den," a guarantee from series creator and fellow executive producer Remi Aubuchon ("24"). "Jack is on a journey." Aubuchon explains. "The incident that's occurred with his mentor dying under mysterious circumstances is something that hopefully will be resolved during this first season, but that doesn't end the journey Jack is "At the same time. I feel it's really important to have closed-ended legal stories. I get crazy if I feel like I am tuning in to a show with no idea of what's going on. I want a nice, good story, and I think we've found a really great Lowe acknowledges the Grisham-ish texture of "The Lyon's Den," but he stresses that the show's Lyon, LaCrosse & Levine "is not 'The Firm' of the movies. It is not a (spiritually) bankrupt, utterly evil place. It is a place that's fighting for its soul, and there are soldiers on both sides, which I think makes it more interesting. It leaves open the question of who is going to

Jack Turner will face another challenge early in the series' run: Singer and poet Jewel will appear in several episodes as a government attorney to whom Jack once was engaged.

Authenticity is all-important to the makers of "The Lyon's Den," which is why Aubuchon set it in Washington, D.C. "I was fascinated," he explains. with the idea of an incredible seat of power next to an urban environment with a lot of poverty. I just thought that sort of contradiction was a fascinating place where we could pull not only stories from à very elite, heady group, but also from a down-and-dirty, 'I need help with my son who's in prison' kind of place. I believe we're presenting D.C. in a very different way from 'The West Wing,' in the sense that we'll be just a little more realistic about what that place is."

"The Lyon's Den" will battle it out with another law drama, since it's sched-uled opposite the revamped "The Practice" on ABC. As anticipated as his series re-entry is, Lowe knows not to take anything for granted.

"I've learned that it's a lot like bodysurfing in a very big swell," he says. "You get through one wave and think you should congratulate yourself, then

Carla Gugino is in ABC's sight as 'Karen Sisco'

By Jay Bobbin © Zap2it

Carla Gugino isn't J. Lo, but that doesn't mean the two can't share a Picking up where Jennifer Lopez left off, "Spy Kids" movie mom Gugino stars in "Karen Sisco," a seriocomic ABC series about the federal marshal Lopez played in the 1998 film version of Elmore Leonard's novel "Out of Sight." Premiering Wednesday, Oct. 1 the show makes plentiful use of Miami locations as the deceptively demure Sisco uses her looks and wits to find her prey in and around the city, ranging from glitzy Palm Beach to gritty South Beach.

The series retains part of the "Out of Sight" creative team, including Danny DeVito - who will do a guest shot in an early episode - and his fellow executive producers, as well as Oscar-nominated screenwriter Scott Frank, who gets "executive consultant" billing. Robert Forster ("Jackie Brown") costars as Karen's retired-lawman father. and actor-director Bill Duke ("Predator") plays her boss.

Not only is Gugino an admirer of "Out of Sight" (which also starred George Clooney) in its screen form, but she also reports, "I'm a huge Elmore Leonard fan. I've seen probably all the film adaptations of his novels, and I had heard that Jersey Films (DeVito's company) wanted to make a TV series based on the Karen Sisco character. Jennifer Lopez gave a wonderful performance, but it wasn't really Karen's movie, so the character still has a lot of mystery to her. I've reread the novel, so I'm certain that there's still unmined territory."

Gugino maintains she's up for the job in many ways. "I'm a pretty physical person anyway, but in training for this, I went to an actual U.S. marshal's office and found that they have a gym right there. They do have to keep in shape, so while we were filming the pilot in Miami, I did a lot of running on the beach and swimming in the ocean. I also went to shooting practice with our technical advisor, and I turned out to be a good shot. I didn't realize how worried he was that I'd be really bad until I showed I was really good.

Seeming delicate also is a bonus. both for Karen Sisco and for Gugino in playing her. "She looks like this waif, and you think, 'There's no way she's going to pull (her job) off.' I'm a fairly petite person, but Karen should feel like she can kick someone's butt. She's really adept and smart, and she knows how to use what she has. I also had to take golf lessons, because Karen golfs with her father in the show. and I'd never played before in my life. I can't say I'm as good at golfing as I am at shooting, but I'm having a good

"You have here a young, single, vibrant woman whose closest relation-ship is with her father," Gugino adds. "I can't think of anyplace else l've seen that on television lately. She obviously has a complicated personal life, as do many people, and I hesitate to make any judgment calls on her reasons. One of the advantages of doing a series is that you can find the innate heart of a character, then continue to discover who she is."

Gugino is no stranger to series work having done stints on "Spin City" and 'Chicago Hope," but being the center of a show is a new experience for her. "I'm sort of a gypsy by nature," she says. "I love the world of film, so a TV series is a big commitment for me. What most people find positive about steady television work aren't necessarily the pluses for me.

Carla Gugino ("Spy Kids") has the title role in "Karen Sisco," a new series about the Elmore Leonard-created federal marshal who was played by Jennifer Lopez in the 1998 movie "Out of Sight." Premiering Wednesday on ABC, the show also stars Bill Duke as Karen's boss and Robert Forster as her retired-marshal father.

Sports Feature Watch out for hot team in playoffs, says ESPN's Miller

By George Dickie © Zap2it

Often in baseball's postseason, it's not about who is the best team so much as who is the hottest.

A classic example of that axiom is last year's Anaheim Angels. Forty-one games out of first place in 2001, the Halos won 99 games in 2002 on their way to winning the American League wild-card berth. They then dispatched the heavily favored New York Yankees in the Division Series, the Minnesota Twins in the League Championship Series, and another favorite, the San Francisco Giants, in the World Series.

How did they do it? Most point to the timely hitting of players such as Darin Erstad and David Eckstein, and hitters who worked long pitch counts and wore out opposing pitchers. But Jon Miller, who will be in ESPN's broadcast booth when the Division Series gets under way Tuesday, Sept. 30 (coverage also airs on Fox and, later in the week, ESPN2), feels the Anaheim bullpen was the difference maker. "Nobody really knew it until (the Division Series) was fully played out," Miller says, "but it was a different Angels team than the one that anybody had played all year, because of Francisco Rodriguez.

"They did something extraordinary, which was they took a young guy who had only been in - what? - five games in his whole career. They used a loophole in the postseason roster-setting rule to get a guy in who was not supposed to be eligible. And they reworked their bullpen as the playoffs were being played out. He went from being a middle reliever at the beginning of that series, and by the end of the series, he was the setup guy in front of Troy Percival.

"He was like Mariano Rivera in 1996 in front of John Wetteland," Miller continues, "because Rivera was the seventh and the eighth. We was like two setup men, and then Wetteland fin-ished. And the Yankees were unbeat-

"And that's what happened with the Angels in the postseason. Now, Brendan Donnelly and Ben Weber, who had been the seventh- and eighthinning guys, primarily, all of a sudden, they could be used in the fifth and sixth innings, because Francisco Rodriguez was in there. Once you got to the seventh and they were ahead, he was coming in, and then Percival.

"So I think it was a combination of the kind of hitters they had in the lineup and the way that bullpen became sort of just molded out of thin air. I sort of just molded out of thin air. I mean, it wasn't like they could get a good scouting report on 'here's the way the Angels do it.' The Angels themselves weren't doing it the way they'd done it the whole year."

So who could get hot like the Angels this year? At press time, only two teams - the Atlanta Braves and San Francisco Giants - were locker for poot.

Francisco Giants - were locks for postseason berths. But there's little doubt that any team that plays the Giants will have their hands full contending with arguably the game's most dominant hitter since Babe Ruth, Barry Bonds.

"He influences every aspect of the game," Miller, a regular announcer on Giants broadcasts, says. "In the World Series last year, they were walking him with the bases empty, with a runner at first, with runners at first and second. And I mean, just out and out gave him four fingers and said, 'Put him on.' Not pitching around him and all that kind of stuff, just out and out walked him intentionally. Well, nobody

"And when they weren't walking him intentionally, he was hitting home runs," Miller continues, "and each one was longer than the previous. I think he had 16 or 17 at-bats in the whole World Series and he hit four home runs, and he walked 12 (actually 13)

"There were these two great teams, World Series teams, and then there was this one player that was beyond everybody else in the World Series, or apparently beyond anybody that Mike Scioscia had managed against all year in the American League. So, I guess that was a Ruthian display by Bonds, because there really had not been anything seen like that in a World Series, period. But the closest would have been with Babe himself.

"Even then, Babe had Lou Gehrig hitting behind him, which was a little different," Miller points out. "Barry had Benito Santiago - a professional, had a fine year, did a good job - but not Lou Gehrig. So Barry changes a lot of "Women's Soccer" Sunday, Sept. 28 (ABC, 2:30 p.m. ET): North Korea poses the final threat of Stage 1 for the United States as the women's World Cup continues from Columbus Crew Stadium in Columbus, Ohio. Not much is known about the Koreans outside of their region, but an impressive victory over a powerful Chinese team earlier this year raised some eyebrows. What the U.S. coaches do know is the Koreans play a physically demanding, technically sound style of soccer that keeps mistakes to a minimum.

"Green Bay Packers at Chicago Bears" Monday, Sept. 29 (ABC, 9 p.m. ET): After a year hiatus, the Chicago Bears return to a revamped Soldier Field tonight against longtime rival Green Bay in a matchup of NFC North foes. Even at home, this will be a big test for Chicago. The Pack has dominated this division over the past decade, winning four titles and 107 regular-season games, the most in the NFL. And it's no coincidence that QB Brett Favre has started each one of those games. He's 18-4 in his career against the

All My Children

David took care of Bianca at the clinic, assuring her that he won't tell Erica the secret she is keeping. Kendall and Boyd brought Lena to the clinic in time to save her life. Lena was later shocked when Kendall offered her a job. Ryan snuck into the meat packing plant that Kendall is attempting to buy and was stunned at what he saw. Kendall turned down Liza, Mia and Simone's offer regarding Fusion and wanted nothing more to do with them, then called Boyd. Tad engaged in a passionate kiss with a woman who suggested they have a no-strings affair. Coming: Erica fears being named as a suspect.

As the World Turns

Mike admitted to Carly that he's in love with Katie, who was through with him after a corpse and Simon's wedding band were found in the warehouse. Molly rejected Paul's appeal that she help break up Dusty and Rose. However, when Paul arranged for Molly and Dusty to be locked in a van together, they ended up making out. Barbara's plea to Jennifer to stay away from Dusty had the opposite effect as she went straight to his side. Sarah wouldn't forgive Bonnie for not telling her about the rape. Coming: Trouble in close quarters

Bold and Beautiful

The abductors took Ridge hostage, demanding a huge ransom. A dis-guised Nick got Ridge free from his restrains and they overpowered the kidnappers, only to come face to face with a gun-toting Sheila. Oscar revealed to Bridget how Deacon stole from his father's casino and that he's now having problems with a crime syndicate. Bridget shared a kiss with Oscar after learning that he sold the casino and plans to open a new club, unaware that the thug from the hospital was watching them. Samantha convinced Stephanie to undergo a makeover, and Stephanie was delighted with the results. Coming: Sheila launches her newest evil

Days of Our Lives

Abe was shot just as the visions had predicted, and Sami, Lucas, Kate, Tony, Rex, Nicole and Victor were all shown to be in possession of firearms at the fatal moment. Kate was relieved when tests on her gun were inconclusive but everyone became nervous as a hospitalized Abe prepared to name the person who tried to kill him. Coming: Abe makes an eerie premonition.

Alexis was arrested after Cindy followed Stefan's orders and said that Alexis forced her to lie about Ned raping her. Alcazar plotted to make Sonny believe that he's losing his mind, but Sonny told Jason to eliminate Alcazar permanently, and Carly found a nearly dead Alcazar in an alley. After Nikolas broke up with Lydia she moved in with Lucky, who wasn't thrilled. Coming: Luke is out for revenge against Stefan.

Guiding Light

Lizzie admitted to Christopher that she loathes Olivia and her baby. threatening her again. Lizzie managed to sneak out of the house, and Soap Synopsis waited for a ride from Joey. Edmund saw a mysterious Japanese woman greet Jeffrey in a way that appeared intimate. Coming: Phillip waits for Olivia to answer his proposal.

One Life to Live

Al's sudden death threw Max, Gabrielle and Marcie into deep grief. Evangeline offered to become Antonio's attorney, news that did not sit well with R.J., who then got a court order granting him custody of Jamie. Daniel took over the case and announced he's seeking the death penalty against Antonio. Kevin learned from David that Kelly could die if she becomes pregnant and confronted her with the truth, bringing them closer together. Coming: Antonio digs closer to the truth about Keri's death.

Passions

Charlie and Beth took Sheridan out to sea and tossed her to the bottom of the ocean floor, where a dying Sheridan begged her mother for help. Meanwhile, Beth prepared to kill Charlie. Chad battled with Puff Dog and his thugs, afterward assuring a shaken Whitney that he'll protect her. Ethan was distressed to see Gwen at his apartment and got her back to the hospital. However, Gwen came in for a huge shock and had a no-holdsbarred face-off with Theresa. T.C. misunderstood Julian's consoling of Eve and became furious at the sight of their embrace. Coming: Ethan and Theresa face a terrible blame

Frederick broke the news about Brittany's stripping to Anita and they agreed to talk to her together. Meanwhile, Raul told Brittany that they are through and he walked out. Ashley told Brad that she doesn't want to blame Victor for their loss, but an angry Brad found Victor at the gym and challenged him to a fight. Coming: Paul needs help for a guilty conscience.

Soap Talk

It may be going, but it won't be forgotten

By Candace Havens

Daytime television is in more trouble than ever before.

The final episode of ABC's "Port Charles," airing Friday, Oct. 3, signals the end of an era.

In the past, a new soap opera would be waiting in the wings to take over, but that isn't going to happen this time. In most cities, the open programming slot will be filled by local news.

In 1997, when "PC" first aired, it was a spinoff of "General Hospital." The story lines focused on the lives of several interns who worked at the hospital, and the show had a difficult time finding its own identity.

To break away from its sister soap, the "PC" writers and producers decided to take it in a radical direction. The stories were told in chapter form.

The series clipped along at an amazing pace, and viewers became intrigued as more fantasy elements such as time travel and vampires were added to the mix. The show became the "Dark Shadows" of its time, and although the ratings were low, it continued to grow. But, it wasn't enough. Daytime television is very expensive to produce Again, the producers stepped up to the plate and created abbreviated production schedules. The actors worked for a few months and then were off for sever al more. They were able to maintain the quality of the show while cutting costs.

It was the best of both worlds, and the show attracted top talent including Michael Easton, Lynn Herring, Kimberlin Brown, lan Buchanan, Jon Lindstrom and Charles Keating.

The demise of the davtime drama had little to do with quality. It was all about money.

The saddest part of this is that it will take a small miracle for another soap opera to make it on the air. The erosion of daytime drama viewership has made the networks wary of taking on a genre that takes years to build an audience.

However, there is hope. Viewers have several hours of daytime dramas from which to choose. By watching and supporting their shows, they can keep soaps alive for years to come.

The hidden value of a prayer book that sold for over $2 million at the New York auction house Christie's is examined in the new episode "Infinite Secrets." Almost imperceptibly, the volume also held the oldest collection of works by Archimedes, thought to have been lost forever. With the use of modern technology, scientists are attempting to restore the original text and gain new perspective on the Greek scholar's life and times.

7 p.m. and AMC

Movie: The Cutting Edge

This 1992 romantic comedy stars D.B. Sweeney as a hockey player forced to guit the sport because of an injury. He is recruited to be the new partner for a rich. spoiled figure skater (Moira Kelly), and they immediately clash. Despite the friction, they work hard to qualify for the Olympics and — in the process — fall in love. Roy Dotrice also stars.

7 p.m. on FAM

Movie: The Birdcage

Mike Nichols directs a terrific cast in this 1996 adaptation of "La Cage aux Folles." Robin Williams stars as a flamboyant drag club owner whose son is about to marry. The bride's family is very straight-laced, leaving the groom's dad with a problem; how to explain (or hide) his gay lover (Nathan Lane) of many years. Complications ensue when they try to pose as husband and wife.

7:30 p.m. on 26-ABC on 13-ABC I'm With Her

Jim Belushi crosses over from his own sitcom, "According to Jim," to guest star in the new episode "The Second Date." He plays a dance teacher who teaches some moves to Patrick (David Sutcliffe), who plans to use them on his second date with Alex (Teri Polo). The upshot, Patrick leams later, is that Alex can't dance either. Late-night host Jimmy Kimmel appears as himself.

8 p.m. on 38-WB One Tree Hill

The outcome of Lucas' (Chad Michael Murray) first varsity game has him ready to quit the team in the new episode "The Lucas. Karen (Moira Kelly) won't attend a game, much to Keith's (Craig Sheffer) frustration, because she-doesn't want to run into Dan (Paul Johansson).

8 p.m. on 6-NBC

Frasier

Patrick Stewart ("Star Trek: The Next Generation") makes a now-rare TV appearance by guest-starring in the new episode "The Doctor Is Out." He plays a conductor who makes himself Frasier's (Kelsey Grammer) new best friend. Though Niles and Daphne (David Hyde Pierce, Jane Leeves) issue warnings about the musician's likely motive, Frasier falls to heed them.

8 p.m. on 19-PBS

The Blues

The career of blues legend B.B. King is traced in Part 3 of this new miniseries, "The Road to Memphis," directed by Richard Pearce. The history of the Tennessee city associated so closely with blues music also is traced in the program, which includes interviews with

King, Ike Turner and record mogul Sam

8 p.m. on USA Movie: Jane Doe

Teri Hatcher faces more Lois Lanetype peril, and does a credible job, as the type peril, and does a credible job, as tile heroine of this 2001 suspense movie produced by action-film specialist Joel Silver ("The Matrix," "Lethal Weapon"). Hatcher plays a data-firm employee forced to steal weapons-related information to the heroid control of the statement tion to save her kidnapped son.

8:30 p.m. on 6-NBC Good Morning, Miami

The sitcom's second season begins by resolving last spring's emotional cliffhanger in "The New Good Moming, Miami." Dylan (Ashley Williams) has decided to take Jake (Mark Feuerstein) into her heart and her arms, but Penny and Gavin (Constance Zimmer, Matt Letscher) don't sail together quite as smoothly. Complications mount when all of them get a new boss (Tiffani Thiessen, starting a multiple-episode arc as a quest star).

7 p.m. on 6-NBC

Ed

Ed (Tom Cavanagh) and his comrades become stars of a documentary in the new episode "New Car Smell." The camera remains trained constantly on the Stuckeyville residents, even in moments they'd prefer not to be recorded — as when Ed and Carol (Julie Bowen) decide to cohabit. Mike (Josh Randall) wants to re-energize his marriage to Nancy (Jana Marie Hupp). Warren (Justin Long) targets Molly (Lesley Boone) for a prank.

7 p.m. on 54-UPN Enterprise

Archer (Scott Bakula) brings a female slave (guest star Nikita Ager) aboard the starship in the new episode "Rajiin." She takes advantage of her hosts by mentally tapping into their knowledge, which she plans to relay to their Xindi enemies. Once she's found out and detained, the Xindi invade Enterprise to retrieve her.

7:30 p.m. on 26-ABC on 13-ABC It's All Relative

This new sitcom about young lovers from different backgrounds isn't exactly "Bridget Loves Bernie." The male half of the pair (Reid Scott) is the son of a working-class Catholic couple. His lady (Maggie Lawson) comes from a home headed by an upper-class gay male couple. John Benjamin Hickey, Christopher Sieber, Lenny Clarke and Harriet Sansom Harris also star.

8 p.m. on 4-CBS

The King of Queens

A slimmer Doug, played by a trimmer Kevin James, unwittingly causes domestic problems with his new physique as the sitcom's sixth year begins with the hourlong episode "Doug Less." All the compliments Doug receives make Carrie (Leah Remini) jealous, a feeling that isn't helped when Doug takes her to a mountain resort he also visited with his previous girlfriend. While they're away, Arthur (Jerry Stiller) wants to drive.

8 p.m. on 38-WB

Angel

Angel (David Boreanaz) and his crew start out in a new direction as they assume control of the law firm Wolfram & Hart in Part 1 of the fantasy-drama's fifth-season opener, "Conviction," written and directed by series mentor Joss Whedon. They represent an evil client (guest star Rod Rowland) who wants to destroy Los Angeles. Spike ("Buffy the Vampire Slayer" ex-patriate James Marsters, who joins the regular cast) —
Angel's old enemy from Sunnydale —

8 p.m. on 6-NBC The West Wing

Zoey's (Elisabeth Moss) life is at stake as temporary chief executive Walken (guest star John Goodman) deals with her kidnappers' demands in the new episode "The Dogs of War." The captors threaten to kill her unless U.S. troops are ordered out of Qumar. Toby (Richard Schiff) prepares presidential speeches for both possible outcomes. Josh (Bradley Whitford) fears Republicans will cash in on Walken's current power.

8 p.m. on 19-PBS

The Blues

"Warming by the Devil's Fire," Part 4 of this new miniseries, finds writer-director Charles Burnett ("To Sleep With Anger") weaving a fictional story around facts about the ties between gospel and blues music. A Mississippi youngster argues with his relatives over the two

8 p.m. on 54-UPN Jake 2.0

Series star Christopher Gorham is reunited with another former regular in "Popular," Carly Pope, in the new episode "The Good, the Bad and the Geeky." Jake (Gorham) adopts the identity of a cyberspace terrorist and goes overseas to break up the villain's gang. The mis-sion is jeopardized when a hacker (guest star Pope) tries to carry on an online affair with the real terrorist.

8 p.m. and DSC

7 p.m. and AMC Movie: Stalag 17

The unofficial inspiration for television's "Hogan's Heroes," director Billy Wilder's 1953 comedy-drama remains one of the screen's most memorable war stories. William Holden earned an Oscar as a POW who can bargain with his German captors — but his wits take him only so far when he's suspected of overt action against the enemy.

8 p.m. on 4-CBS

CSI: Crime Scene Investigation

Serial killers are murdered in the new episode "All for Our Country." Grissom (William Petersen) suspects that someone close to the victims, whose bodies were found in their home, is responsible. Catherine and Sara (Marg Helgenberger, Jorja Fox) probe the death of a college student whose body was found -afloat - in his shower.

8 p.m. on 6-NBC

Will & Grace

Oscar winner Mira Sorvino ("Mighty Aphrodite") guest stars in the new episode "Last Ex to Brooklyn" as a beautiful, savvy fashion-magazine editor who happens to be a former flame of Leo's (Harry Connick Jr.). Does this make Grace (Debra Messing) feel threatened? Not as much as another tidbit of information about the woman: She's the only female sex partner Will (Eric McCormack) has ever had.

8 p.m. on 19-PBS The Blues

Filmmaker Marc Levin ("Brooklyn" Babylon") is joined in Chicago by hip-hop star Chuck D and Chess Records scion Marshall Chess in Part 5 of this new miniseries, "Godfathers and Sons." The visitors' mission is to unite contemporary artists with blues legends on an album. Bo Did-dley, Paul Butterfield, Muddy Waters, and Sonny Terry & Brownie McGhee are among the performers Mira Sorvino seen in clips.

(Sharon Leal).

7 p.m. on 4-CBS Joan of Arcadia

Joan (Amber Tamblyn) acts on a heavenly suggestion by enrolling in advanced chemistry in the new episode "The Fire and the Wood." Her brother Luke (Michael Welch), who excels in the course, is among her classmates. Helen (Mary Steenburgen) encourages Kevin (Jason Ritter) to master a new form of mobility.

7:30 p.m. on 26-ABC on 13-ABC Married to the Kellys

Breckin Meyer and Kiele Sanchez star as a couple from different worlds in this new sitcom. Tom (Meyer) is an only child from the big city; Susan (Sanchez) comes from a large Midwest clan. When they move near Susan's family, Tom has a hard time adjusting to its size and assorted eccentricities. Nancy Lenehan and Sam Anderson also star.

8 p.m. on 8-FOX on 25-FOX Boston Public

Hanson (Michael Rapaport) is caught off-guard, and faces the possible end of his teaching career, when he becomes the target of a student's accusation in the new episode "Chapter Sixty-Eight." New teacher Carmen (Natalia Baron) stages a classroom debate that gets way out of hand. Harper and Guber (Chi McBride, Anthony Heald) nearly come to blows over Marylin (Sharon Leal) and Faith (Faith Ford, Kelly Ripa) are reluctant to attend the funeral in the new episode "Remembrance of Rings Past." They believe their deceased relative stole a ring from their mother many years earlier — and when they see the ring on one of the corpse's fingers, the results aren't pretty. Charley (Ted McGinley) doesn't know how to turn off the household burglar alarm.

9 p.m. on 4-CBS The Handler undercover as a carjacker to infiltrate and stop a vicious bank-robbery gang in the new episode "It's Only Rock and Roll." The assignment draws Darnell so deeply into the gang, he starts taking drugs and stealing cars to keep his alias intact. Lily (Anna Belknap) poses as a bartender to gather evidence against an apparently corrupt federal judge.

8 p.m. on 26-ABC on 13-ABC Hope & Faith Darnell (Hill Harper) is sent After aunt dies, Hope Breckin Meyer and Kie

Saturday Best Bets

7 p.m. on 26-ABC on 13-ABC Movie: Lilo & Stitch

A small but destructive alien escapes from custody and lands on Earth — Hawaii to be exact — where he poses as a dog. He's adopted from the pound by Lilo, a rambunctious orphan girl, who names him Stitch. As he tries to stay one step ahead of the extraterrestrial law, his rowdy ways threaten to break up the only family Lilo has left. David Ogden Stiers, Tia Carrere and Chris Sanders lead the voice cast in this charming 2002 animated tale.

7 p.m. on 6-NBC

Movie: Ace Ventura: Pet Detective

Jim Carrey brings his trademark manic goofiness to the title role in this 1994 comedy, which lives in infamy for its famous talking-but-tocks scene. Ace, a private eye who specializes in tracking down lost critters, is called in by the Miami Dolphins to locate the team's missing mascot — a dolphin, of course. Sean Young and Courteney Cox also star, and several Dolphins (the football-playing kind) have cameos.

7 p.m. on TNT Movie: Seven

A ready-to-retire police detective and an energetic young rookie (Morgan Freeman, Brad Pitt) investigate a bizarre series of deaths in this 1995 thriller. The murder spree is a one-man crusade against the Seven Deadly Sins; the killer punishes gluttony, for example, by forcing a man to eat himself to death. Apparently, someone forgot to tell him murder is a sin, too. Gwyneth Paltrow also

7 p.m. on HBO

Movie: Real Women Have Curves

Mexican-American teen Ana (America Ferrera) has lots of potential and a family that fails to see it. Her dad doesn't want her going away to college, while her mother is on her case about her weight and lack of dates. Unbeknownst to Mom, Ana has a boyfriend, as well as a supportive teacher and grandfather, who just might help her find the drive she needs to assert her independence. This 2002 drama also stars Lupe Ontiveros and George Lopez.

9 p.m. on 26-ABC on 13-ABC L.A. Dragnet

The update of Jack Webb's classic police drama gets changes — starting with the addition of its city to its title — as the second season begins with "Coyote." Promoted to lieutenant, Joe Friday (Ed O'Neill) oversees a group of young detectives as they link a woman's murder to a prostitution ring that imports illegal aliens. New series co-stars include Desmond Harrington, Roselyn Sanchez and Christina Chang.

shooter quickly. Evidence suggests that the trigger-puller is a former Marine. Once a suspect is in custody, McCoy and Southerlyn (Sam Waterston, Elisabeth Rohm) get a big surprise as they try to make their case.

Angela Bassett and Laurence Fishburne earned Oscar nominations for their portrayals of Tina and lke Turner in this 1993 biodrama based on Tina's memoir. Discovered by Ike when he calls her up from the audience to sing a few bars with his band — a standard part of his act — she becomes his protegee, his wife and ultimately his object of abuse before she finds the strength o break away.

(Ratings for each film begin with a "star" rating - one star meaning "poor," four meaning "excellent" - followed by the "Motion Picture Association of America rating, and then by a family-viewing guide, the key for which appears below.)

STARTING THIS WEEK (New releases):

"2 FAST 2 FURIOUS": More speedy cars and teckless criminals draw an incognito cop (Paul Walker) back into action in this breakneck-paced sequel to "The Fast and the Furious." Kicked off the force for his handling of an earlier case, he gets a charice for redemption in Miami, where he targets the leader (Cole Hauser) of a street-racing gang involved in money laundering. John Singleton ("Boyz N the Hood") directed the adventure, which co-stars Tyrese Gibson as the cop's new partner. DVD extras: "making-of" documentaries; deleted scenes; outtakes; "animated anecdotes." (PG-13: AS, P, V)

"BEND IT LIKE BECKHAM": An international "sleeper" hit, this comedy-drama takes its title cue from David Beckham, Europe's reigning soccer superstar. The same game, known as football overseas, lures a couple of young women - played by Indian actress Parminder K. Nagra and Keira Knightley ("Pirates of the Caribbean: The Curse of the Black Pearl") - who rebel against following traditional paths to prove their prowess on various playing fields. DVD extras: theatrical trailers; audio commentary by director and co-writer Gurinder Chadha; "making-of" documentaries; deleted and extended scenes; outtakes. ***

(PG-13: AS, P)
"DREAMCATCHER": Stephen King's

"DREAMCATCHER": Stephen King's storytelling traditions remain true to form, and a tad predictable, in this well-cast if overlong thriller directed by Lawrence Kasdan ("The Big Chill"). Childhood friends from Maine - played by Thomas Jane ("Deep Blue Sea"), Jason Lee ("A Guy Thing"), Damian Lewis and Timothy Olyphant - reunite and are trapped by a blizzard, forcing them to confront both a sinister military colonel (Morgan Freeman) and an otherworldly power. Tom Sizemore and Donnie Wahlberg co-star. DVD extrasmaking-of, documentaries; deleted scenes; alternate endings. (R: AS, P. V)

"BOAT TRIP": A singles cruise turns out to be far from what two buddies banked on in this raucous comedy. Cuba Gooding Jr. and Horatio Sanz ("Saturday Night Live") play the buddies who decide to get away from it all, unaware that their travel agent holds a grudge that lands them on a trek for gay passengers. It takes a while for the guys to catch on, but once they do, much zaniness ensues. Roselyn Sanchez, Vivica A. Fox and Roger Moore co-star. DVD extras: "making-of" documentary; deleted scenes; outtakes.  (R and unrated versions: AS, N. P)

"DAWSON'S CREEK: THE SERIES FINALE": DVD releases of the former WB Network series skip ahead from the first season to the very end of the show with this wrenchingly emotional, extended episode that brings the saga of Dawson Leery (James Van Der Beek) and his friends to its conclusion five years in the future. The gang is shaken by the serious illness of one member, and Joey (Katie Holmes) finally decides whether she wants to be with Dawson or Pacey (Joshua Jackson). DVD extras: audio commentary by series creator Kevin Williamson; deleted scenes; alternate ending and deleted scenes from series pilot. " (Not rated: AS, P) "THE TICK: THE ENTIRE SERIES":

"THE TICK: THE ENTIRE SERIES": Praised by television critics, though it never earned the hoped-for level of ratings for Fox, this larger-than-life action-comedy is a live-action version of the popular comic book and animated series. Patrick Warburton - best-known as Puddy in "Seinfeld" - stars as the offbeat title hero whose after-hours life is the focus of the show. He tries dating and qualifying for an exclusive superheroes club. Liz Vassey ("Maximum Bob"), David Burke and Nester Carbonell ("Suddenly Susan") play his sidekicks. DVD extras: audio commentary by "Tick" creator Ben Edlund and executive producer Barry Sonnenfeld.  (Not rated: AS, P, V)

COMING SOON (Upcoming releases):

"DOWN WITH LOVE" (Oct. 7): An advice writer (Renee Zellweger) can't resist the advances of a suave journalist (Ewan McGregor) in this 1960s-themed romantic comedy. (PG-13: AS, P) "HOLLYWOOD HOMICIDE" (Oct. 7):

"HOLLYWOOD HOMICIDE" (Oct. 7):
A veteran police detective and a relative novice (Harrison Ford, Josh Hartnett) dabble in other careers while teamed on a case. (PG-13: AS, P, V)
"THE IN-LAWS" (Oct. 7): Michael Douglas and Albert Brooks play a secret agent and a podiatrist about to be linked by their children's marriage. (PG-13: AS, P, V)

be linked by their children's marriage. (PG-13: AS, P, V)
"THE ITALIAN JOB" (Oct. 7): A career thief (Mark Wahlberg) and his crew scheme to retrieve stolen gold from a double-crosser (Edward Norton). (PG-13: AS, P, V)

NBC gambles on 'Las Vegas' with new drama series

By Jay Bobbin © Zap2it

If a series is titled "Las Vegas," you can gamble on one thing being certain: It won't be dull.

The desert oasis has fueled such shows as "Vega$," "Nikki," "Lucky" and current ratings topper "CSI: Crime Scene Investigation." Now it has inspired an NBC namesake, which premiered Sept. 22 and begins airing in its regular Monday time slot this week.

Though the entire city is a "star" of the drama series, the focus is on the security detail of one resort and casino. Movie veteran James Caan ("The Godfather," "Misery") is making his series debut as the team's no-nonsense chief, Big Ed Deline, who relies greatly on right-hand man Danny McCoy (Josh Duhamel, "All My Children") to help him weave through situations that often involve questionable wagers.

Complicating matters is Ed's recent discovery of his daughter, Delinda (model Molly Sims), in bed with Danny.
Other members of the security squad are played by Nikki Cox (who starred in the aforementioned "Nikki"), Vanessa Marcil ("Beverly Hills, 90210"), James Lesure ("For Your Love") and Marsha Thomason ("Black Knight"). Cheryl Ladd, seen in the show's pilot, will be a recurring regular.

will be a recurring regular.

A cheating gambler was at the crux of the first episode, but that won't be a weekly plot according to series creator and executive producer Gary Scott Thompson, who wrote the 2001 movie hit "The Fast and the Furious." He says, "We can deal with anything we want to. There are 127,000 (hotel) rooms in Vegas; that's 127,000 stories, plus they're building another 6,000 rooms as we speak. Whatever you can think of, we've already thought of, and there's a pretty good shot that it's already happened or is about to happen in Vegas."

about to nappen in vegas."

After doing TV guest appearances during the 1960s, particularly in Westerns such as "Wagon Train" and "Death Valley Days," Caan earned plentiful praise as football player Brian Piccolo in the landmark 1971 drama "Brian's Song." Not only does "Las Vegas" bring him back to the small screen, it also marks his return to the title city, where he made the 1992 movie comedy "Honeymoon in Vegas."

Caan recalls earlier visits to Sin City with "a warm place in my heart and an empty pocket. I used to go there in a $30,000 car and come home in an $800 bus. I was there in my early 20s, when I thought it was smart to gamble because I had nothing." In those days, Caan says, Las Vegas "was very personal. It wasn't so corporate then. It's 180 degrees on the other side now, with the corporations and what's going on there, which is a circus."

The colorful craziness holds appeal for co-star Duhamel, who admits his own past yen for placing bets. "I'd lose much more often than I won," he confesses. "I like the outrageousness, and every time a new casino goes up, it seems to top (the previous one that was built). Just the architecture of some of the things that are going up is unbelievable to me."

Duhamel is getting to see a lot of them while making "Las Vegas," since like many visitors to the city, the show's cast and crew are up at all hours. "They don't shut down the casino" during filming, Duhamel reveals, "just a little corner. It's almost like we're monkeys in a cage at some points, because it's a huge casino. They're not going to shut down the traffic of the patrons, because they bring a lot more money in than we do."

Working within the flow of tourists hasn't bothered Caan. "The truth is that everybody's nice. Nobody wants to hurt you. All they want is a handshake or a 'hello.' "The highly recognizable Sims is bemused by such close encounters with the public. "They kind of feel free to come up to you," she reflects, "(since) they don't realize that you're actually working. It's like when I was growing up and saw (a star). It's fascinating." Cox adds, "Most people in Vegas have a little help with 'liquid courage,' so to speak."

One benefit to having stargazers on hand is their usability as extras. Thompson says that "Vegas is so big and there's so much noise, they didn't even know what was going on" during production of the pilot. "When we shot the scene where the cheater was cheating, we had hired extras to be a crowd. The crowd kept getting bigger because people kept going, 'Somebody's winning over there.' Pretty soon, it was just packed with people who thought (the actor was) winning: There were cameras above them and behind them, and no one saw the cameras."

Josh Duhamel plays a casino security operative who is personally involved with his boss's daughter (model Molly Sims) in "Las Vegas," a new drama series airing Mondays on NBC.
